Acid and rennet casein price ranges held steady for Week 15. Although acid casein sales to regions outside of Oceania are lighter, domestic demand for acid casein in Oceania is in line with last week. Stakeholders convey international buyers remain somewhat hesitant and continue to purchase primarily to cover immediate needs with potential price adjustments continuing to get settled during the start of Q2. Acid casein spot loads are available despite lightening seasonal acid casein production. Rennet casein demand is stronger in Europe. Demand from buyers outside of Europe is steady. Rennet casein production is stronger with seasonally stronger milk volumes to be utilized. Rennet casein loads are also available for spot buyers.
