Prices for acid and rennet casein were unchanged this week. Seasonal milk output continues to decline in Oceania and contacts report this is contributing to light acid casein production. Demand for acid casein is light in Oceania, but stakeholders say demand from international purchasers has held steady in recent weeks. Spot loads of acid casein are somewhat tight in Oceania. In Europe, contacts report rennet casein production is steady. Demand for rennet casein is steady. Contacts report rennet casein remains available to meet current spot market demands.
