This week, the price ranges for acid and rennet casein both held steady. Acid casein demand is, reportedly, trending higher in Oceania, but contacts in the region say export interest is soft. Spot purchasers say inventories of acid casein are available to meet their current needs. Production of acid casein in Oceania is steady, following seasonal trends. Meanwhile, contacts in Europe say declining milk production is having a negative impact on rennet casein production. Despite this, spot inventories of rennet casein remain available for purchasing. Contacts report softening demand for rennet casein in Europe has prevented inventories from growing tight. Export demand for rennet casein is steady.

Prices for: Spot Sales And Up to 3 Month Contracts, Free on Board - Warehouse, Non-Restricted, All Mesh Sizes, Conventional, and Edible Casein
