Cooling temperatures are contributing to increased cow comfort and milk production in the Central region. Some cheesemakers in the Central region say an increasing volume of milk is heading to bottling as Class I demand is increasing in the region. Demand is steady for all other Classes. There were few spot trades of Class III milk this week, due to limited availability. Contacts say the only Class III milk available is from nearby plants with downtime and report spot prices ranging from flat to $2-over. Cheese production is steady to higher. Cream production is increasing in the Central region and volumes are plentiful. Butter makers are running active production schedules. The bottom of the ranges for cream multiples moved lower this week.
