INDEX OF STATE TABLES..... 118-121

INTRODUCTION

Data in this report represent averages of prices received by farmers for livestock, dairy, poultry, and products at the point of first sale. Prices represent all grades and qualities of the items sold. Monthly prices represent averages of all sales during the month, except for egg and turkey prices which are based on sales during the 5 days centered on the 15th of the month. Monthly U.S. prices are computed by weighting the State average prices by the estimated amounts sold that month.

Livestock prices are based on farmers' sales to dealers, packers, and buyers at auctions and stockyards. Farm-to-farm sales are excluded. Prices are on an "as sold" basis and are figured before commissions, yardage fees, or other selling expenses are deducted. Cow and steer and heifer prices are combined into average prices for beef cattle using weights based on the estimated proportion of monthly sales in each category. Published estimates for barrow and gilt and sow prices start in December 1980. Milk cow prices changed from monthly to quarterly estimates in January 1982.

Milk is priced f.o.b. plant or receiving station. Prices are for average fat test and include premiums paid to producers, but exclude deductions for hauling, association expenses, dues, promotion funds, standby pools, Government withholdings, and retained capital. Milk annual average prices are based on the January through December monthly prices. State all milk prices and tests are calculated by combining the fluid and manufacturing grade components using the amount of each grade sold as weights. The U.S. annual average price and test for manufacturing milk includes data for some States that are not published separately. Milkfat in cream price estimates were discontinued after 1979.

Prices for chickens and turkeys are on a liveweight basis. Due to vertical integration of processing firms, broilers are priced on a liveweight equivalent basis in Alabama, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Maine, Minnesota, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia. The ready-to-cook price is converted to a liveweight equivalent price by adjusting for transportation and processing costs. Turkey prices for Maryland and Delaware are combined to avoid disclosing individual operations.

Egg price estimates represent the average of all eggs sold (wholesale or retail, graded or ungraded) by farmers. The all-egg price is derived by combining prices for market (table) and hatching eggs using the estimated sales of each type as weights. Monthly market egg prices were first published in December 1981. Monthly all egg prices by State are not available after November 1981.

State annual and marketing year average prices are calculated by weighting the monthly prices for the marketing year by the estimated monthly sales, except for broilers and turkeys which use pounds produced as weights.

State calendar year average prices for milk cows are unweighted averages of the 12 monthly prices for 1979-81. Starting in 1982, the calendar year average is the unweighted average of the four quarterly prices.

U.S. annual and marketing year average prices are computed by weighting the 12 monthly prices by estimated monthly sales (pounds produced for broilers and turkeys). The U.S. milk cow price is a weighted average of the State calendar year average prices using the average number of milk cows on farms as weights.

A price series begins and ends based on the changing importance of a State's production over time. Thus, monthly and annual prices are not published for each month and year for all States. Also, monthly prices are estimated only for months when 0.5 percent or more of the State's total production for the marketing year is sold.

Prices in this report are used to calculate value of production, cash receipts, gross farm income, parity prices, the meat animal index, poultry and egg index, dairy index, and the index of prices received by farmers. Prices are also used to measure price trends and price changes from month to month and year to year.

Below are descriptions of the terms used and the items priced in this bulletin.
